Iowa Corn Opportunities Announces the Addition of Three New Board Managers

JOHNSTON, Iowa – June 8, 2011 –Iowa Corn Opportunities (ICO) announces new key leadership additions to its board of managers with the addition of Dick Gallagher, Dan Broderick and James Eiler to its board of managers.

ICO was established in 2008 to facilitate new business developments and leverage support for start-up ventures that positively impact corn growers. Since that time, ICO has made several investments and continues to look for new investment opportunities that will benefit corn growers.

Dick Gallagher joined the ICO board in 2010. He grows corn and soybeans on a farm near Washington in Washington County. Dick has been farming for 36 years and currently serves as chair of the Iowa Corn Promotion Board. Dick has a wide variety of experience investing in ventures both on and off the farm.

Dan Broderick joined the board in June of 2011 and is a Sr. Fellow of Innovation and Entrepreneurship at BioGenerator in St. Louis as well as Venture Partner at Prolog Ventures. Dan is the Founder and President of the Global Agtech Investors Network (GAIN), a not for profit corporation dedicated to supporting capital formation and innovation in agtech companies. Mr. Broderick is actively involved in the venture capital community on a regional and national level and has served on the Board of Directors of the National Venture Capital Association (NVCA).

James Eiler joined the board in June of 2011 and is the founding principal of Eiler Capital Advisors, a niche investment banking firm focused on capital formation in the food, agribusiness, and renewable energy sectors. Jim's financial services career spans over thirty years of senior management positions in commercial banks, the Farm Credit System, John Deere Credit, and Cybus Capital.

Craig Floss, will continue to serve as ICO's Chief Executive Officer with Pam Johnson serving as President and Brian Jones as Chief Operating Officer. In addition, Jon Leafstedt continues in his role as board manager.
